

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

President's Postdoctoral Scholars Program

Cultivating the Next Leaders and Scholars

The Ohio State University President's Postdoctoral Scholars Program, supported by the Office of the President, recognizes highly-qualified postdoctoral trainees who will become leaders in their fields. This program supports the scholarly efforts and training of PhDs and other terminal degree holders (e.g., MFA) who wish to pursue careers in research and creative inquiry, as well as providing professional development opportunities and faculty mentoring. Salary, benefits (health insurance, paid leave), research-related and professional development support will be provided by the Office of the President and the scholar's faculty mentor and sponsor college.

Step 1	Step 2	Step 3
Find a faculty mentor/ advisor. Use Ohio State departmental websites to identify faculty in your area with whom you would like to train. Can't find someone? Contact us!	Submit form of intent. Have your potential Ohio State faculty mentor submit a short form of intent to ensure your eligibility.	Submit full nomination packet. Work with your proposed faculty mentor to draft the submission materials. The Ohio State faculty mentor submits the completed packet.
